THE DOCTOR'S STORY

TRAGIC HISTORY OF JOE, HIS MOTHER AND THE BABY.

An Early Professional Experience That Was Brought Back to a New York Physician's Mind by the Story of a Murder in a Bowery Saloon.

"It's a queer world," said a New York physician as he laid the morning paper aside.

"What prompted that original remark?" asked a visitor.

"Well, I was just reading an account of a stabbing affair, and it suddenly occurred to me that I had known the man who did the killing." The doctor settled back in his chair, and the visitor waited for the story. After a few moments it came.

"When I first began to practice, I did an immense amount of charity work. Every fellow does that at the start for experience, and later he keeps it up for humanity's sake. I had pretty good success with children and made quite a name down in the tenement districts—and incidentally spent most of my pocket money on my patients. That was before the day of free sterilized milk for sick babies and dozens of institutions for the relief of the poor.

"One summer a woman began bringing a sick baby to me. A small boy, about 3 years old, always came with them and seemed to be fairly strong and well, but the baby was a pitiful little thing, with a thin, white face and big blue eyes with a look of pain in them. The woman seemed an ignorant, honest soul and generally wore a thick, dark veil to hide a black eye or great blue bruise. It's easy enough to figure out a thing like that, you know, but she never spoke of her husband or complained, so I didn't ask any questions. She brought the baby often, and each time it looked more waxen and scrawny, but I couldn't find out that the child had any disease, and all the symptoms pointed to a lack of nourishment.

"At last one morning I said to the mother that I believed the baby was starving, and that I didn't intend to allow her to leave the office until she had told me the truth about the affair. She looked stubborn for a moment and wouldn't answer, but then the tears began to roll down her bruised, discolored cheeks, and she confessed that she didn't have enough food to give the baby. She worked hard, but her husband drank and took every cent she made and beat her every day into the bargain. She was fond of the brute in spite of all that and told me a long story about the heavenly nature the fellow had before he began to drink.

"Finally I told her I would give her a quart of milk every day. I wouldn't give her the money because I didn't covet the privilege of buying bad whiskey for the husband, but I would pay the nearest milk depot to supply her with a quart a day. That would feed the baby and leave some for little Joe, who didn't look quite so well as he did when the two first began calling on me. After that I didn't hear any more about the case for a week or two. Then my friends turned up again. The baby looked worse than ever, and the woman's face was a patchwork in blue and green, but little Joe was quite rosy. I didn't understand. The baby was in a bad condition, and I did what I could for it. After I left my office I went down to the milk depot. The man said my woman had had her quart of milk every day.

"I puzzled over the thing that night. The next morning the two were at my office. The baby's blue eyelids were closed, and I thought at first that it was not breathing, but found a faint flutter. I couldn't see any reason for such a state of things, so once more I led the woman into my private office and shut the door. Then I said:

"Now, look here. There's a mystery about this, and you've got to tell me what's the matter. That baby's starving to death, and I want to know what you've done with the milk."

"The woman looked scared and turned pale between bruises. Then she gave a sort of yell and jumped up, still holding the baby.

"No, the baby didn't have the milk," she said in a frantic sort of way. "I gave it to little Joe. There wasn't enough to feed them both, and Joe began to get sick, and I loved him better than I did the baby. I ain't had a crust to eat myself, but I couldn't let Joe die. The baby's only a girl, and if she does live she'll be unhappy like me, and I don't love her like I do Joe. I thought both of them were going to die, and I couldn't live without Joe, so I gave him the milk and just let the baby have a little. Maybe you think I ain't suffered watching the baby, but I couldn't spare Joe. I couldn't. Some day he'll be a man, and I'll be proud of him. A man can do anything, but a girl would just do what I've done. Joe shan't die."

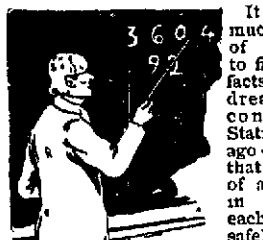

"She was screaming the words out and seemed almost crazy. The thing was awful. It made me feel heartsick. 'Why, you idiot,' I said, 'why didn't you tell me? I'd have looked out for Joe too.'

"Just then the baby opened its eyes—great, uncanny, weird eyes in the tiny face. It stared at me in a miserable way that made my heart come into my throat. Then all the light died out of the eyes, but they still stared.

"There was no use saying anything more to the mother. She sat down and looked at the baby in a quiet, stunned way. Then she reached out and put an arm around little Joe and held him tight. I told her I would keep on paying for the milk as long as she wanted it, and she and Joe and the baby went home.

"I never saw them again. When I went to the house, they had moved, and no one seemed to know where they had gone. Joe's the fellow who has just murdered a man in a Bowery saloon. I wonder what the girl would have been? It's a queer world!"—New York Sun.

Figures Don't Lie.

It doesn't take much knowledge of mathematics to figure out the facts about that dread disease—consumption. Statisticians long ago demonstrated that one-seventh of all the deaths in Christendom each year may be safely attributed to consumption and allied diseases.

There is an almost certain cure for this fatal disease if taken in time. The story of what it will do is told in the following letter:

"About two and a half years ago, when I was at Flat Rock, Ky.," writes J. W. Jordan, Esq., "I was taken with severe pains in the chest, after which I began to spit up blood and was also troubled with night sweats. I was so short winded that I could hardly walk half a mile at once, and if I got the least bit weary, I would have an attack of phthisis (asthma) and almost die for about two or three days. I concluded to try Dr. R. V. Pierce, and I related my case to him. He wrote me that I should take his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I began using it and used about six bottles. I began to see that it was helping me, so I concluded to continue its use. I did so and have improved both in strength and in weight. I have not had the phthisis, nor spit up any blood since last spring."

This great remedy—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—cures 98 per cent of all laryngeal, bronchial, throat and kindred affections which, if neglected lead up to consumption. It strengthens the stomach and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It invigorates the liver and aids the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It makes the assimilation of the food perfect. It is the great blood maker and flesh builder. Honest dealers will not urge you to take a substitute said to be "just as good."

Send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser FREE. Enclose 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper covered copy. IS A CHANGE GOOD POLICY NOW?

The Republican State Convention will convene on next Thursday and by Friday evening its labors will have been finished and from present indications a full State ticket will be nominated. There will then be four tickets in the field from which the voters of Nevada may select the officials to manage the affairs of State for the four years succeeding January 1, 1899. It is not the wish of the JOURNAL to criticize the acts of the Republican administration for the four years preceding that of the Silver party State officers, but a glance at facts and figures for the purpose of comparison cannot be construed into mud throwing or uncalled for criticism. During the depression that has existed in Nevada for the past eight years, particularly in the State's principal industry, there has been almost a continuous cry of retrenchment. It has been said over and over again that Nevada could not keep up her State Government, that the State University could not be maintained, and that the most rigid economy must be enforced in all State institutions and departments of the State Government or the State would be bankrupt. While the Republican administration referred to seemed to realize the situation and to some extent gave heed to the warnings of the taxpayers, yet there was little change in the direction of economy from that of former years, and it was said that it was next to impossible to run the State Government any more economically than it had been carried on. The Silver party officers took charge of the ship of State, and the story of their management is best told in the following clause taken from the platform adopted at the late Silver party State Convention:

We invite comparison of the four years during which the Silver Party has been in control of the State Government with the last four years of the Republican regime. The expenses of the last Republican Legislature amounted to $51,000, that of the last Silver Party Legislature, $23,500. The expenses of the Executive Department for the last year immediately preceding Silver Party control amounted to over $38,500, while but $23,500 were the expenses of the Executive Department for 1897. For the last four years of Republican management $3,000 were expended in public buildings as against $97,000 by the Silver Party. And during the periods in comparison, in support of the public schools of the State, the Silver party expended $377,000 as against $256,500 by the Republican party. No one can examine the foregoing and many other facts and figures which might be adduced, without the resulting conviction that the Silver party has fulfilled its promise of retrenchment with reference to salaries of State officials and the curtailment of unnecessary expenses, while, on the other hand, it has generously fostered the educational and charitable institutions of the State and wisely contributed to its public improvement.

These are facts that cannot be denied and must in all reason convince the taxpayer that the Silver party officials have accomplished results in economy and improvement, which the Republican administration did not accomplish and if they could have done so they acted in bad faith with the people who put them in control by their neglect.

Besides, is a change advisable at this time, when the greater portion of Nevada's people are striving to rehabilitate the white metal? Would it not be better to open the mines and mills, and instead of a rapidly decreasing population, offer the best inducements for people to come into the State and engage in all branches of business? Can it be possible that silver men or those who have their homes in the State and perhaps every interest and are anxious to see the State again prosperous, allow themselves to be deceived by a few Republicans who only hope is to create dissension in the Silver ranks and thereby secure an office.

Don't let it be said that Nevada has proven untrue to the white metal. Close up the Silver ranks and on the night of November 8th let the same victorious shout of the past six years go forth to our Eastern brethren that silver is the paramount issue.

A Railroad For Churchill County.

A Painter's Conscience.

In the course of some reminiscences of Sir Edward Burne-Jones a correspondent of The Westminster Gazette remarks: Those who are not "offended" by the paradoxes of Charles Lamb would have delighted in Burne-Jones' play of humor and imagination. Let me justify my reference to Charles Lamb.

I once returned to Burne-Jones some books which he had lent me 30 years before, writing to him to the effect that if it was base to keep borrowed books so long it was heroic to return them after such long possession as might well breed the sense of ownership. In reply he said:

"The return of those books has simply staggered me. It has also pained me, for it seems to raise the standard of morality in these matters and perhaps to sting the susceptible consciences of book borrowers. I have many borrowed books on my shelves. I would rather the owners should die than that I should have to think about these things and return them. I have two costly volumes that were lent to me before that little incident of ours, which, you may remember, was in Red Lion square. I hope the owner is no more, for I simply will not give them up. And you have made me uneasy and have helped to turn an amiable rascal into a confirmed villain. Your affectionate Ned."

Slang Puzzled Him.

Edouard Remony, the great violinist, used to say that some of the hardest studying he ever did in his life began after an experience he had in Detroit.

"On my first tour of this country," he delighted in telling, "I worked unceasingly to acquire a knowledge of the language and got on fairly well. But the slang that I found so prevalent baffled me more than anything else. I gave a performance in Detroit one night and met with a reception that warmed my heart toward her people. Among other things, this appeared in one of the papers next morning: 'Here an ugly, little, bowlegged chap, whose clothes hang loosely about his ungainly person, waddled to the footlights. But, sakes alive, how he did play the fiddle!'"

"Now, I couldn't make out what that 'sakes alive' meant, so I timidly approached a gentlemanly citizen, told him of my inability to grasp the meaning of the slang, and asked him if the expression was intended to be complimentary."

"He kindly read it and replied, 'Well, I should snicker.' "I was more bewildered than ever, and from that time on made the study of slang one of my chief occupations." —Detroit Free Press.

A Forgetful Bishop.

An English bishop, noted for the shortness of his memory, was one day waiting at a station for a train. Being in good time, his lordship was indulging in a solitary trot up and down the platform. While thus engaged, he came in contact with a young officer whose face seemed familiar to him. Meeting him again, he said "Good morning."

At the next encounter the bishop stopped, saying, "How is your father?" The gallant soldier replied, "He has been dead for many years." The bishop tried again with the query, "How is your mother?" "Well," said the officer, smiling, "I think she must be all right, or you would have heard had she been indisposed."

The bishop walked away, but his curiosity was greatly aroused. Seeing the station master, he at once asked him if he could enlighten him as to who the young officer was with whom he had been conversing. "Oh," replied the station master, "why, your lordship, that's the Duke of Connaught." —Household Words.

THE NEVADA EXHIBIT.

What J. B. McCullough, the Exposition Commissioner from Washoe County, says.

J. B. McCullough, one of Nevada's Commissioners to the Omaha Exposition from Washoe county, in a conversation yesterday regarding Nevada's exhibit at Omaha, told the JOURNAL the following: There is no exhibit from Nevada in the Agricultural Department of the Exposition, except that taken from the State University, and as far as that is concerned it is good, but small, yet compares with the same character of exhibits from a number of other and larger populated States than Nevada, and excepting States that may be termed large agricultural States.

The exhibit was all that Colonel Maxson could procure, notwithstanding his efforts to awaken an interest among the farmers. No one ever applied to the Commissioners for space or facilities for forwarding agricultural products, so Maxson was compelled to rustle and take what he could get.

The mineral display is A 1, in fact none surpassing it and few exhibits, if any, equalling Nevada in point of minerals or metals. Nevada has the only exhibit of sulphur in its natural form at the exposition, and this show is exceedingly creditable. "The State, Mr. McCullough says, 'may well be proud of its mineral display, which is prominently situated in the Mining Building, so much so in fact, that it is not even necessary to obtain directions to it. I found it without trouble, and a big sign hangs over it that any one who can read plain English can 'read as they run.'"

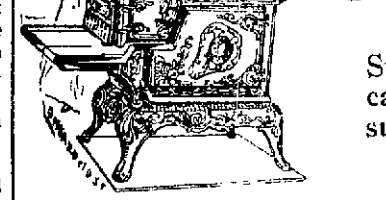

Mr. McCullough says he believes in giving the devil his due, and while he does not care to take issue with anyone regarding the Nevada exhibit at Omaha, he believes that Colonel Maxson should at least be credited with what he has done under the circumstances and anything fair that can be said of him should be said, for he was at least one man in Nevada who had courage enough to bring forward the resources of the State, even under adverse circumstances.

Asking That the Nevada Boys Be Discharged.

Rev. Mr. Riddle was circulating a petition in town yesterday asking for the discharge of Troop M., Torrey's Regiment. This troop is composed of the 2nd Nevada Volunteers, and the boys would rather be discharged than to be sent to Cuba to do garrison duty.

Mr. Riddle secured a good many signatures and it is quite probable that the War Department will recognize the petition. The boys in the main are anxious to return home.

FROM DEACON.
Politics; Business and General Matters at Seattle.
SEATTLE, Sept. 6, 1898.
EDITOR JOURNAL.—In order to retain old-time friendship and, what is more, to insure the continuance of your much prized paper, I again send you a few lines to prove that I still cumber the ground. There is not much of interest to write about but then a letter is a letter small or large. Politics are beginning to boom and there being five distinct parties in the field the fight becomes so much the more interesting. The Simon-pure Republicans, Silver Republicans, Silver Democrats, Populists (called Pops for short), Fusionists and Straight Democrats, with present chances favorable for the Fusionists. As I go but little into the city I am compelled to form an opinion as to the probable result from conversation at home and what I glean from the papers, as we live in the outskirts of the city, and some folks are not as young as they used to be, and find attending a nice large garden a better source of employment than "meandering the pave." But it is early in the day to form an opinion.
Business seems to improve and quite a large number of dwelling houses are going up in the outskirts, but from all I can glean coin is very scarce notwithstanding the almost daily arrival of lucky ones from the frozen north, but the immense grain crop will probably be the means of improving the money market. I still stick to my advice relative to persons seeking to better their condition by coming hither, to cast the idea from their minds, for if making a living, let it be ever so small, stay where you are, for employment is hard to obtain, and pay very small.
Incidentally I learned of the death of Alfred Helm, but not having received the JOURNAL for several days, until this morning, did not learn the particulars. We were old-time friends, and of course I felt sorry at his taking off, and being nearly of an age—well you can guess. Alfred was a good man and sincere friend and will be much missed.
Labor day was observed yesterday and in very few cities could there have been a larger or better arranged turn out. It was at least two miles in length and comprised every line of business and labor, and the affair ended in semi-political addresses by present officials who are seeking renominations for their present positions.
I find by the JOURNAL that Nevada still has great men willing to sacrifice themselves on the altar of their country for said country's good, and I think that if all those spoken of could be elected governors it would be good for the State. Of course Stewart will be re-elected. Pray how old does he claim to be? Please ascertain and let me know for I don't answer letters.
Well, old friend, this is not a very interesting epistle, but I send it as a friendly offering, feeling sure that you will so receive it. I see no other Nevada paper but the JOURNAL and so have to depend on it for news from my much loved State, and miss it sadly when it fails to connect.
DEACON.
For the Coming Fair.
Will T. Barnett of San Francisco is visiting Reno for the purpose of arranging the details for the pool privileges at the coming State Fair. Mr. Barnett is associated with J. P. Atkin & Co., the successful bidders for the privilege and he will have charge of matters here. Mr. Barnett grew to manhood in Reno, but some fourteen years ago cast his lines in San Francisco, since which time he has never visited Reno. He finds many changes yet recognizes many of the old times and scenes of his boyhood. He expects to bring a stable from California comprising the following thoroughbreds: Moringa, Jack Richardson, Adam Andrew, Harry Thoburn, Faber-sham, La Parisienne, Jo Terry, Fig Leaf, Lost Girl, P. A. Finnigan, Sport McAllister, Stonell, Nonbalance, also a 2-year-old by Stromboli and a 2-year-old by Flambeau. Mr. Barnett says that four or five other stables will come from California. He will bring with him twelve men for his crew alone and says there is no doubt but what there will be a large attendance of racing men from California and visitors generally. He is taking great interest in our fair and believes it will be a large and successful meeting. Mr. Barnett left for San Francisco last evening and will return shortly with his family and give his attention to the Nevada races.
Mr. Lyman Not Looking for Office.
The rumor that Hon. D. B. Lyman was likely to accept the nomination for Governor offered him on the Republican ticket, is given no credence by his intimate acquaintances here who say that he is preparing for a visit to his Vermont home to recuperate his health and that he has no political aspirations whatever. Mr. Lyman is in Reno and therefore was not available for a personal interview on the subject of his alleged candidacy.—Chronicle.
District Court.
The case of the State vs. Mrs. McCarran was called in the District Court yesterday and was immediately dismissed on the ground that the Court had no jurisdiction. The trouble seemed to have grown out of a quarrel as to the ownership of a calf between neighbors.

TRUCKEE RIVER WATER POWER.
Company Forming to Utilize It for Operating Comstock Mines and Mills.
A meeting of Comstock mine superintendents will be held this evening when the final report of the result of their investigation of the prospect for the development of ore bodies below the Suro tunnel level, prior to the suspension of deep mining, will be read, signed and forwarded to the San Francisco Directors' Committee, through Superintendent Ross, who goes there for that purpose.
The reports of the various superintendents have been condensed in one and cover the entire mineral belt from the Utah to the Alta. The report is highly favorable for the resumption of deep mining. It recommends that the drainage of the flooded levels be accomplished through three shafts, the Forman, Combination and Union or C. & C.
A great saving will be accomplished through operating pumping and hoist plants by electricity, the power of generating which will be supplied by the Truckee river. This project involves the formation of a power transmission company, similar to that incorporated in Utah, where the full motive power of the Ogden river is transmitted to Salt Lake and other points for the operating of every description of machinery.
The proposed power transmission company incorporation will be separate from the Comstock mining interest and initiatory steps for the formation of such a company have been taken. When the plant is in operation the company will deliver 5,000 horse power on the Comstock and will supply it to mining companies at less than one-twelfth of operating steam hoist, pumping and milling plants, and will have plenty of surplus to furnish Silver City, Dayton and other localities with motive power and electric lights. The cost of this enterprise is estimated at $1,000,000, to be raised by bonds, the promoters guaranteeing holders six per cent interest on the investment when the plant is in operation.—Va Chronicle.
Beats the Klondike.
Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption accompanied by hemorrhages, and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and cold, he declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affection are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodkinson's Drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or money refunded.
For Member of Congress.
N. A. Hummel of the Wadsworth Dispatch is announced as a candidate before the Republican State Convention for Congress. Mr. Hummel is an energetic and driving young man and his party could not make a better selection. In a fraternal or newspaperial way it would give us pleasure to assist Mr. Hummel, but as he is so thoroughly Republican in all his ideas, and as we are convinced that Republican success in any particular at this time in Nevada would be a misfortune, we can only say Nick, "Hail and Farewell."
The Silver Quartette.
This organization composed of Chas. Loder, Fred White, John Marray, and Lee MaLotte, is one of the best vocal quartettes on the coast. The boys are now rehearsing for campaign work and will be a feature at most of the big meetings here as well as elsewhere. They never fail to please and on every appearance are called out again and again. They will sing this evening at "She Would a Widow Be," and they alone will be worth the price of admission.
Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chills, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by, S. J. HODKINSON.
Ready for Business.
C. D. Van Duzer was admitted to practice in all Nevada courts yesterday. Van had already received his certificate to practice law in the District of Columbia, but had never filed his papers in Nevada. He is now a full fledged Nevada attorney. Winnemucca will be his headquarters and clients will always find him prompt and attentive to their interests.

A CARD FROM MR. LEESE.
Tramp Politics.
To the people of the State of Nevada, delegates in nominating conventions and candidates for the Senate and Assembly.—
This morning a letter appears in the DAILY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL, recommending the election of Wm. M. Stewart to the Senate of the United States, addressed to Reinhold Sadler, Governor of Nevada, purporting to have been written by Stephen M. White of Los Angeles, California. Also previous letters of like character have appeared in the same and other papers in the State, purporting to have been written respectively by prominent citizens of Illinois, Colorado and Pennsylvania. It is now asserted that the text of those letters was prepared in Carson City and given out for publication. Assuming that those letters originated from the persons over whose signatures they appear, I submit that the whole scheme is an insult to the Statehood of the State of Nevada and to the intelligence and American manhood of every inhabitant of the State. It appears that Mr. Stewart is better known in other States than he is in this State.
The personnel of the Senate of the United States is based on Statehood representation, to consist of two members respectively, inhabitants of the individual States they represent.
If the insult goes unchallenged that the inhabitants of the State of Nevada do not possess the needed intelligence and patriotism to enable them to select a Senator of the United States in pursuance of the fundamental doctrines of the constitution of the United States from the bona fide inhabitants, then for a like reason should they select a State ticket from the inhabitants of other States, for example, a Governor from Rhode Island, Lieutenant Governor from Michigan, Justice of the Supreme Court from Maine, Secretary of State from Minnesota, State Treasurer from Virginia, State Controller from Oregon, Surveyor General from Illinois, Superintendent of Public Instruction from Alabama, Board of Regents of University of Nevada from South Carolina, five District Judges from Ohio, State Central Committee from Indiana.
To elect representatives, State and National, from the inhabitants of a State is a function of Statehood.
If the State of Nevada is incapable of selecting such representatives from her bona fide inhabitants, then that fact raises very seriously the question, is Nevada a State?
If you wish to know about me ask my neighbors.
Your obedient servant,
B. F. LEESE.
Why?
Why is a good liar always considered bad?
Why isn't a homeless man home less than other men?
Why are so many men looking for work that they don't want?
Why are lawyers always shy of a case that isn't fee-able?
Why does free advice usually savor of quantity instead of quality?
Why are lying friends always tolerated until they begin to lie about us?
Why is it that a big heart and a big pocket-book seldom travel far together?
Why does the average woman take too much medicine and the average man too little?
Why does an otherwise sane man go to so much trouble trying to make himself believe that he is having a good time?
Why Not Try to Have the Battalion Here Next Week.
It has been suggested to try and arrange to have the Nevada Battalion visit the Fair one day next week. It is of course understood that the boys cannot move without orders from the War Department, but a message to Alger might be the means of giving them a holiday, and their coming would make a great attraction for one of the days of Fair week, besides giving them a change from the monotony of camp life. Transportation could probably be arranged by the Directors, and the general expense would be comparatively small. It is simply a suggestion but worth looking into.
Free Pills.
Send your address to H. E. Bucklin & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in cure of constipation and sick headache. For Malaria and liver trouble they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to the stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. per box. Sold by S. J. Hodkinson's Drugist.
Important to Working Men.
I have just received a complete and large stock of gents' furnishing goods, over-shirts, underwear, socks, gloves, neckties, collars, cuffs, etc., direct from the factory. Also the celebrated Bull Britches and Levi Strauss overalls in all sizes, which I am selling at prices that defy competition. I have a large assortment of fine all wool blankets, baggy robes, saddle blankets and quilts. I have always on hand a complete stock of all the leading brands of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco which I sell at wholesale and retail. A free employment office in connection with the store.
